Mildred Huff Wins Second Vacation Trip

Other Winners Announced In Retail Promotion

Mrs. Mildred Huff, wife of Bert Huff, Box 64, Gravois Mills, won the second of three vacation trips offered by the retail merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce, at the drawing at the Chamber office Thursday afternoon.

For about six weeks the Huffs have been living at a trailer court at Gravois Mills, where her husband is building a road, but Mrs. Huff was as thrilled over the winning of the vacation as if she hadn't been down there six weeks. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Hayworth, 616 West Tenth, she comes often to see her parents and while she was here one day this week registered at different places as she went shopping. She gave the address of her parent's home, and when it was learned that she lived at Gravois Mills those concerned with the drawing felt she might not be so happy with the award. But indeed she was.

She was so excited when she heard about it she couldn't sleep that night. She was ironing when the news came and that ended the ironing for the time being.

Mildred's family just fits the number, she and her husband and two little girls, Linda, 7, and Brenda, 9. The place for the vacation is Our Resort of Dixie Hills on the Clear-Water Gravois Arm Area of the Lake of the Ozarks. They plan to go there the second week in June and, of course, the vacation includes groceries and the use of a car for the week.

Dog 'Shadows' Sedalia Mailman

By HAZEL LANG

"Pokey's" day's work was finished and she sprawled in the middle of the floor at the post office taking her afternoon siesta waiting for Leo Lewis, mail carrier, whose assistant she is, to take her home.

"Has she had her dog biscuit today?" someone asked, and Bob Nease, post office clerk turned and started toward his desk with "No she hasn't."

Pokey's siesta was over — at least for the minute. Her big brown eyes opened, her head came up, her long ears gave a quick sweep of the floor and at once her whole body was up and at Bob's feet.

Bob took out a biscuit and Pokey stood up for it, snatching it up as he gave it to her.

We looked at her—the beautiful black silky curls all over her—the long ears that were definitely cocker spaniel type, the little round face that wasn't — we're not very much up on breeds of dogs, but we usually know a Cocker when we see one—yet the little round face that was looking up at Bob didn't look like a Cocker.

Leo Lewis showed up about that time—he had been busy finishing up his daily routine, and Pokey went over toward him, looked up at him lovingly as if to say: "That's my man."

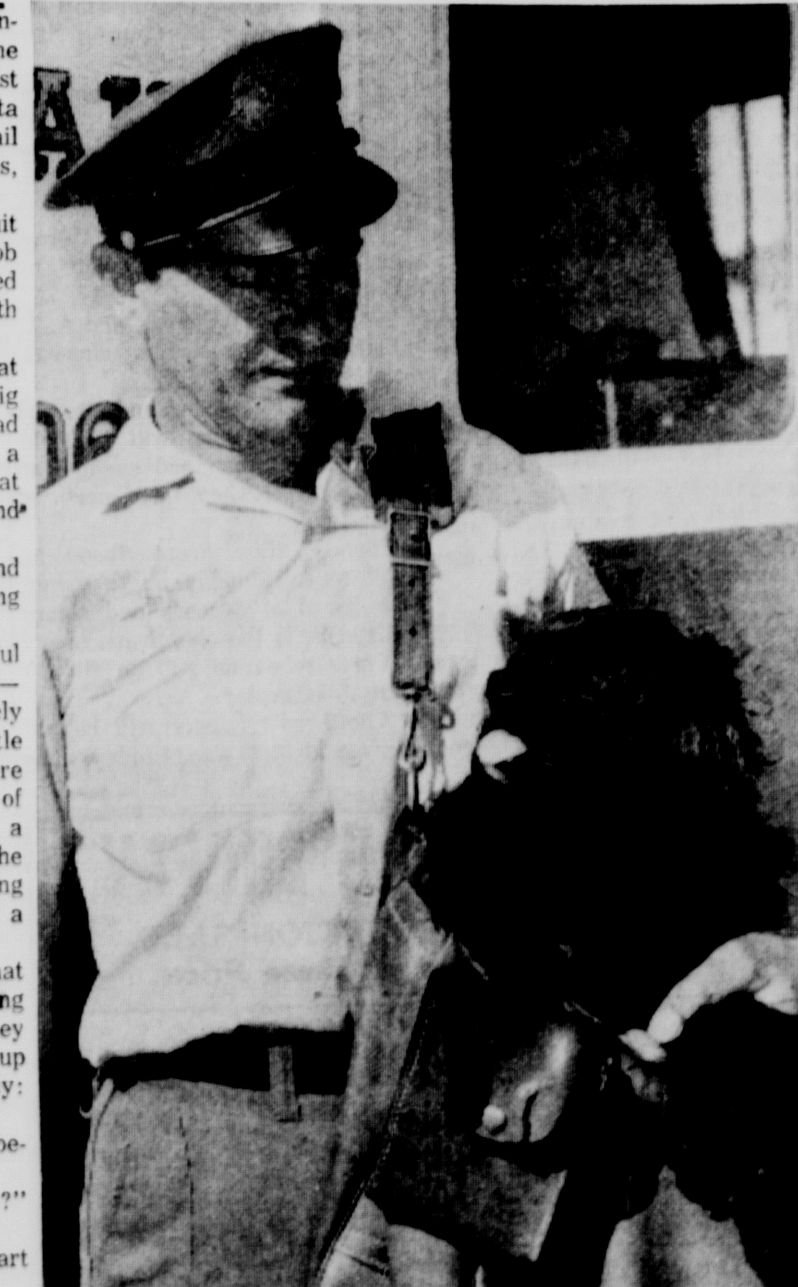

Leo smiled down at her and began telling about her.

"What kind of a dog is she?" we asked.

"She is part Cocker and part Pekinese," he replied.

That was it, that little round Pekinese face with the long Cocker ears.

Pokey belongs to the William P. Birch family, 732 East Fourth, and about three years ago took up the duties of helping Leo Lewis deliver the mail. His route is Second through Sixth to Engineer and Sixth and Seventh to Ohio. So each morning she meets

Husband Charged In Death

Coroner's Jury Rules Shooting As a Felony

Contrary to the opinions of a parade of witnesses who testified that the shooting of Mrs. Helen Carter at 728 West Cooper early Wednesday morning was an accident, a coroner's jury returned a verdict at 12:15 p.m. today that the shooting was a felony.

A charge of second degree murder was filed in Magistrate Court Friday afternoon against Benny M. Carter by Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz in connection with the death of Mrs. Carter. Bond was set at $5,000 by Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong.

Immediately after the verdict was released, Sheriff Emmett Fairfax took Carter into custody and placed him in the Pettis County jail.

Mrs. Carter was shot about 2:40 a.m. Wednesday morning. She was taken to Bothwell Hospital, where she died about 4:45 p.m. the same day.

Her husband, Benny M. Carter, told officials he accidentally shot his wife while showing a gun to friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Ford. The Carters lived at 724 West Cooper, and were visiting the Fords when the shooting occurred.

In the coroner's inquest, presided over by Dr. Gordon Stauffer, Fritz questioned Dr. A. R. Maddox, who treated the patient until the time of her death. Carter, Officer Clarence Flewellen of the Sedalia Police Department, Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin, Sgt. Charles Stuart, Mr. and Mrs. Ford, Archie Ross, Gloria Ross, James Elbert, and Chris Moorehead.

The revolver used in the shooting, a .22 caliber weapon, was introduced in the inquest.

Sgt. Stuart, in his testimony, said that he and officer Virgil Frazier were present in the emergency room when Mrs. Carter was being given emergency treatment, and that he heard Mrs. Carter, in a semi-conscious condition, say, "Please don't kill me," and "Virgil, (in reference to Officer Frazier) please let me put my legs up." These two quotes were heard at different times, Sgt. Stuart said.

Dr. Maddox testified that the (Please turn to page 2, column 1)

Government Moves to Block Enrollment Interference

Way Is Open For Possible Injunction

Wallace to Appear In District Court To Show Cause

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The federal government invoked sovereignty today in a move to block Gov. George C. Wallace from preventing the enrollment of a Negro at the University of Alabama.

A complaint by the Justice Department opened the way for possible injunctive action against the defiant governor who has pledged to bar personally any Negro who attempts to enroll at the state institution.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Seybourn H. Lynne ordered Wallace to appear before him June 3 in Birmingham to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued.

"This action is brought by the United States in its sovereign capacity to safeguard the due administration of justice in its courts and the integrity of its judicial process," said the complaint filed by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The show cause order quoted Wallace's public statement that he was invoking "the sovereignty of this state and I will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll in the University of Alabama."

Pedestrian Killed When Struck by Car

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Daisy Bell Lane, 71, was killed by a car Thursday as she hurried toward Trinity Lutheran Hospital, where she worked in the dietary kitchen.

A witness told police Mrs. Lane was running across Main Street when she was hit at 30th.

It was the city's 33rd traffic death of 1963, compared to 16 by the same date last year.

so, but it probably wasn't dog haters who turned Pokey in, for Pokey is a perfect little lady and doesn't bother anybody, but it was likely people who have dogs whom they have to keep up and resent Pokey's freedom. Dogs are like children, a few bad, destructive ones can spoil everything for the many good ones, that's why all people with children have trouble finding places to rent, and dogs must be kept up.

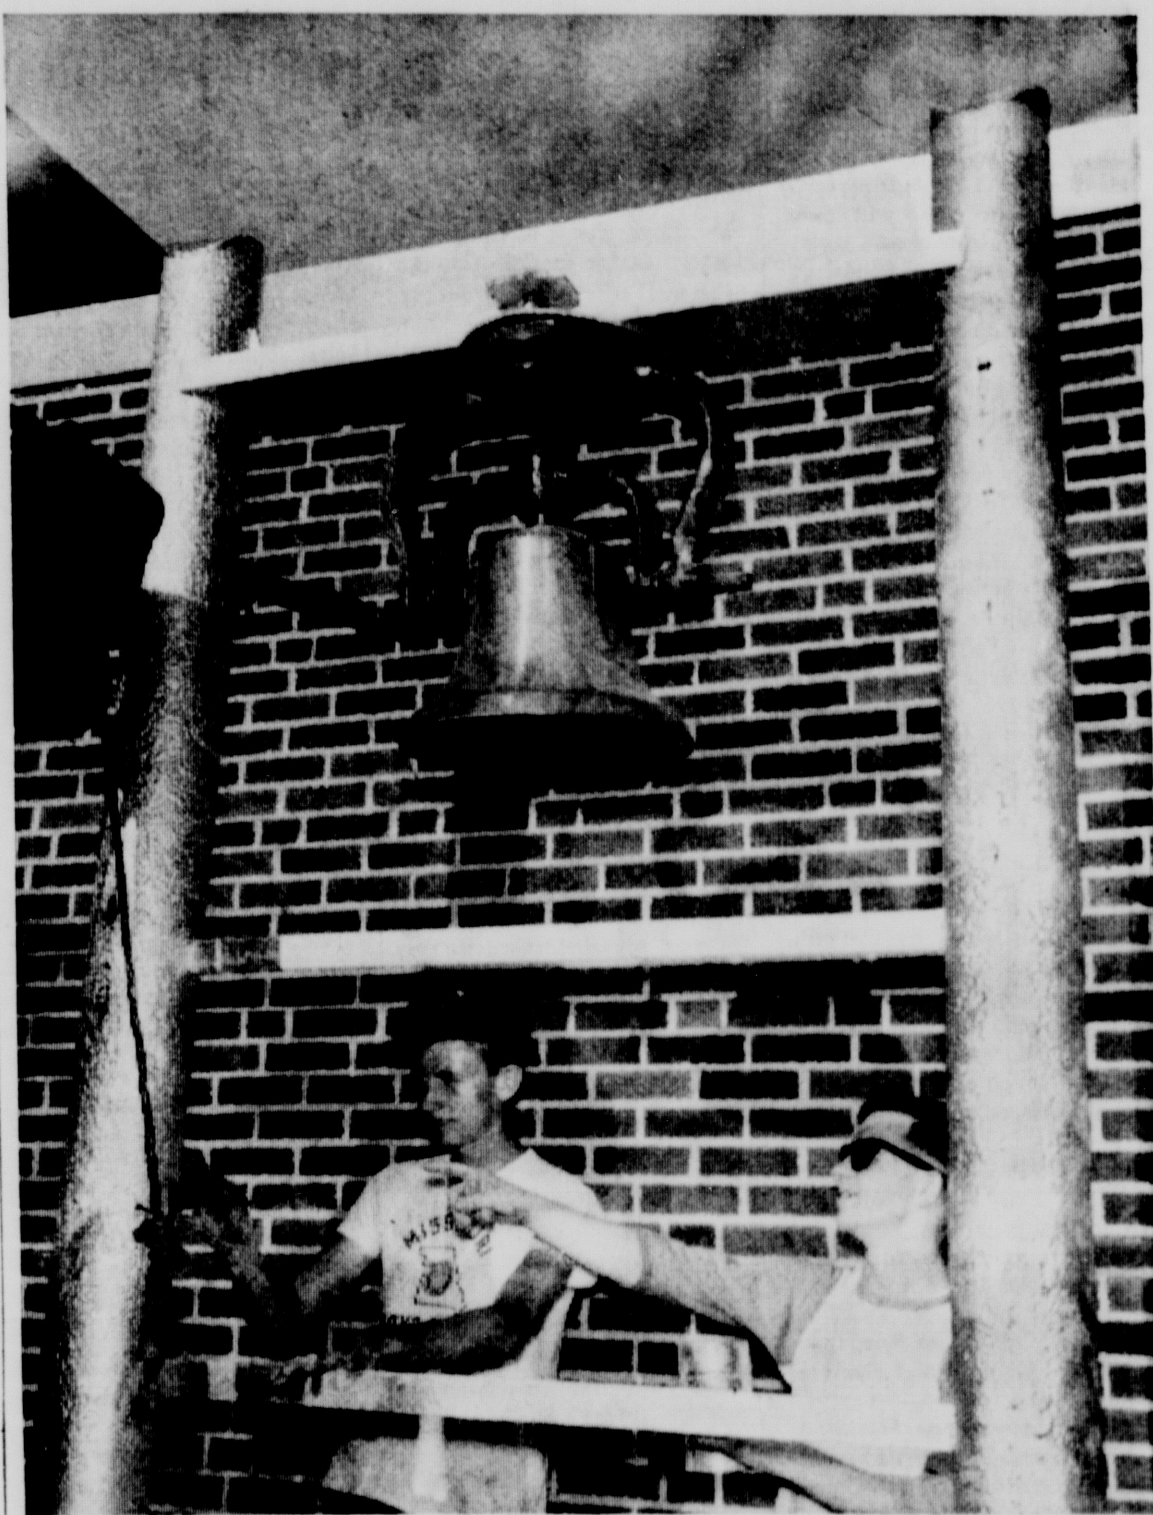

And so now and then Pokey finds herself in that position. She isn't doing anything wrong—just going for a walk with the mail carrier—but she has been reported and so must stay tied for awhile—she doesn't know why.

But most of the people along the route love Pokey. She has some very particular friends who give her a drink of water, some dog biscuits or something, and among them are Dolly Mehl, who is Mrs. Frank Mehl, at Fechtel's and Zelda Connor, who is Mrs. Gregory Connor, at her husband's place of business. They always look for Pokey and have something for her—they are disappointed if she doesn't come—and she is disappointed if they don't happen to be there where they are supposed to be waiting for her.

There are many others, too. She is always petted by the girls in whatever business place she goes into, and many in homes watch for her along with the mail.

When Leo goes home to lunch, Pokey goes on to her own home for her lunch, but when he starts his afternoon route she is right at the same place on Hancock every day waiting for him. When he takes a day off, and his day off is Tuesday, Pokey takes a day off, too. She has no interest in going with the substitute mail carrier. If Leo is on a vacation, she takes a vacation.

At Christmas time Pokey wears (Please turn to page 2, column 4)

Still to be placed between the two horizontal bars is the Smith-Cotton insignia. The bell will be rung, the boys said, each time a Smith-Cotton team scores a victory. (Democrat-Capital photo)

Leadership Pledge In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Progressive leadership in this sprawling steel city's racial troubles has been pledged by a new government which also must grapple with serious economic problems.

Mayor Albert Boutwell and nine councilmen, confirmed Thursday as the legal government by the Alabama Supreme Court, were hailed by a Negro leader as symbols of a new era.

"The Negro people look to the Boutwell administration for direct progress in the area of race relation," said the Rev. F. L. Shuttlesworth a key figure in a lengthy desegregation drive which landed about 2,400 Negroes in jail for demonstrations.

"Justice and progress have triumphed," said Shuttlesworth. "Birmingham's image has already improved."

Boutwell and the council took over the government when the court ousted a three-commissioner system dominated by Police Commissioner Eugene Connor, a bitter segregationist who personally directed policemen in handling demonstrations.

The new mayor, considered a moderate, said he would appraise the city's racial problem "and work toward its harmonious solution."

Almost simultaneously with the legal victory for the mayor-council, a Chamber of Commerce committee warned that the city's economy had been severely damaged by racial strife.

"Something must be done," said Caldwell Marks, chairman of an industry-hunting committee. He said prospective industries have refused to consider Birmingham because of the turmoil.

Close Cooperation

PARIS (AP) — France is cooperating closely with Spain in aerial defense, the French armed forces information bulletin disclosed Thursday.

It pointed out that although Spain is not a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, such cooperation was imposed by geography.

The United States has a bilateral defense agreement with Spain, as does Madrid's neighbor, Portugal.

Pools Will Open Despite Weather

L. R. Black, Sedalia park superintendent, said today that the city's two municipal swimming pools will open Saturday morning as scheduled in spite of the cool, rainy weather the past few days.

Both the Liberty Park and the Hubbard pools are scheduled to open at 10 a.m.

Black said lifeguards will be on duty for hardy swimmers. Season tickets to the pools will also be available, he said.

Sugar Price Hike Touches Many Areas

NEW YORK (AP) — Soaring sugar prices have made some people mad, others worried and others jut-jawed stubborn.

Some others, however, don't seem to care or, a Los Angeles grocer suspects, haven't noticed that prices have risen 14 times this year.

A San Antonio, Tex., sugar broker, Eddie Gittinger, is among those whose dander is up. He thinks the big problem is hoarding by industrial users. Refiners should start rationing, he suggests.

"I would like to see this thing ended suddenly and leave the speculators holding the bag," he snaps.

A woman who operates a corner ice cream shop in suburban New York would like to see it ended suddenly too. She buys her sugar retail, and moaned when she saw what had happened to the five-pound bag that had cost 53 cents last fall.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," she said Thursday. "I can't pay 70 cents and still make a profit."

In Washington, D.C., the Agriculture Department said there will be ample supplies of sugar unless consumers start hoarding.

Rep. Lenor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., announced that a House Banking subcommittee she heads will open hearings into the sugar price increases early next month.

Dorothy Apruzzese of Merrick, N.Y., sympathizes.

"It's just terrible," she said. "But I'm not going to buy any bags at 70 cents. I'll wait until it comes down and use saccharin instead."

"I don't know what I'll do about the kids," she said. "Let them use honey, I suppose."

Bothwell Link to KC Blood Bank

Bothwell Hospital officials announced today the affiliation of the Bothwell with the Community Blood Bank, of the Kansas City area, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Under the affiliation, blood used in the hospital will be furnished by the Community Blood Bank and on the first and third Friday of each month personnel of the Blood Bank will come to Bothwell Hospital to accept replacement donors from friends and relatives of the patient who has received the blood.

Donors should call the hospital laboratory, TA 6-8833, for appointments for blood donations. In addition to accepting blood replacement donations will be accepted for deposit to Blood Savings Club Accounts and other advance deposit plans.

Blood given at the hospital may be accepted as a replacement for blood given any place in the United States.

In the past, the hospital has successfully operated its own blood bank for service to their patients, but the nation-wide credit exchange has not always been easily accomplished.

Jerry Brant, technologist in charge of the Bothwell Memorial Hospital's laboratory, explained that as in the past, many other services are available to the hospital patients, in addition to providing human whole blood. Packaged red blood cells, platelet concentrates, fresh frozen single donor plasma, pooled plasma, freshly drawn blood for treatment of hemolytic diseased of newborn and assistance in difficult blood problems will be furnished by the Community Blood Bank of Kansas City.

Salesman's Kiss Not Appreciated

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP) — A Hutchinson housewife told officers Thursday a magazine salesman failed to impress her with his line of subscription offers and she told him, "No."

Then, she said, he grabbed her, kissed her and ran.

She didn't like that line, either, and signed a complaint charging assault by kissing.

Police failed to find the salesman.

death of Mrs. Carter was due to shock brought about by the gunshot wound. The bullet that hit Mrs. Carter's hand, went into the mouth, ranged off the jaw and lodged in the neck also severed an artery which resulted in considerable loss of blood, Dr. Maddox stated.

Benny Carter, after being informed by Fritz that he did not have to testify unless he volunteered to do so, agreed to testify. He said he and the Fords, along with several other people, had visited the Main Street Bar, then the Melody Lounge, and then to the Ford home.

At the bar and lounge, he stated the group had several drinks, and continued the drinking at the Ford home. At the Ford home, he stated, he thought of the gun bought as a Christmas present by his wife in 1961, and wanted to show the gun to his friends. He said he went to his home and returned with the gun, in its holster. He said that the gun went off, with the bullet hitting his wife in the hand and mouth, as he was pulling the gun out of the holster. Flewellen said that when he arrived he found blood all over the floor, and the gun in its holster on the living room floor. Without examining the weapon, he turned it in to Chief Hamlin. Flewellen testified Flewellen said he knew of no marital troubles between the Carters.

Chief Hamlin told of receiving the gun from Flewellen, and of examining the gun. He said there were six cartridges and one cartridge case in the weapon. He testified that the spent case was under the hammer, indicating the hammer fell on this case the last time the trigger was pulled.

The police chief testified that he knew of no trouble between the Carters, and that he had talked to them about two months ago, and ironed out a minor problem then.

Sgt. Stuart, in addition to the testimony concerning the emergency room at the hospital, said he went back to the scene of the shooting and looked for any additional evidence, particularly evidence that might indicate more than one bullet had been fired. He found no such evidence, he said.

Ford told substantially the same story of the arrival of the gun in his home as Carter had told earlier, and testified that Mrs. Carter was sitting on a divan, Mr. Carter was standing by the divan, Mrs. Ford was lounging on the divan, and Elbert was sitting on the divan. He said he had started to leave the room and was near a door when the shooting occurred. He also stated that Elbert was sitting on the divan at the time of the shooting.

Ford said that Carter had the gun in his home for about one hour before the shooting.

Archie Ross said he and his wife had been with the group earlooks very lovely all dressed up for the Christmas season. She gives everybody the Christmas spirit, and they comment on her red bow.

In the summertime, when it gets real hot, she sometimes comes in riding in style in Leo's empty mail bag. Most ladies can put their fur coats in mothballs for the winter, Pokey can't, and it tires one out walking so far in hot weather all dressed up in a fur coat, so Leo gives her a lift.

She always comes back to the Post Office with him, where she is a pet with all the men. Then, when he has finished his work, about 3:30 in the afternoon, they get in his car and he takes her home. It is a little out of the way, maybe, Leo lives at 1011 Crescent Drive, but he is never in too big a hurry to go around to take Pokey home. Fourth street, on which the post office is located, doesn't go directly through, it goes to Thompson, which is the street west of the Katy depot and picks up a long block east of Hancock. So Leo must go over to fifth and then back to fourth to deliver his precious package of Cocker and Pekingese back to its owners. He stops in front of the Birch home, opens the car door, Pokey jumps out and goes on in her house.

'Happy' Thoughts for Today

The appearance and interview of an English-speaking scientist on television this week left a profound impression on many viewers. He dispelled the popular idea that all men are eggheads who concentrate on such things as Einstein's theory of relativity or Planck's quantum theory in the realm of physics.

Most important was the Russian's assurance that scientists generally desire their discoveries, such as in the nuclear field, put to use in peaceful purposes for the benefit rather than the destruction of mankind.

Certainly, we in Central Missouri, encircled by numerous missile-launching sites, want to believe that nuclear force will never have to be used for offense but will be maintained only as a defensive posture.

Perhaps we will never be released from a subconscious dread that by some accidental means of others or even ourselves a nuclear catastrophe may occur.

Sensitivity to this feeling is not assuaged by an illustration in an exchange newspaper depicting a fiery asteroid hurtling toward earth, and this comment beneath it: "Some scientists believe that the asteroid Hermes could be started on a collision course with the earth by exploding H-bombs on its surface. One mile in diameter, Hermes would impact with more force than a multi-gigaton nuclear bomb."

What a chilling thought!

All we can hope for is that some few over-eager scientists do not become obsessed with curiosity to try out this suggestion to determine what really would happen, against, of course, the expostulations of such men as the more enlightened Russian scientist who spoke on Tv.

But you know how it is with some adults — they're simply grownup children with irresistible impulses to experiment, burning their fingers or sticking a finger into the sharp-edged opening of a new-fangled beer can.

The power of suggestion can become provocatively compelling. Let's pray for dissipation of any urge by scientists to tinker with our asteroids, or children or grandchildren to fool around with a discarded tooth paste can or empty beer cans.

Argument Doesn't Get to First Base

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department showed how much it thinks of the request of Alabama's segregationist governor, George C. Wallace, to the Supreme Court to declare the Constitution's 14th Amendment null and void.

The department brushed it aside in a single paragraph in a brief filed with the court Thursday.

This amendment, adopted in 1868, has been a foundation stone for the Supreme Court in deciding many racial cases. It guarantees all citizens, whites and Negroes, due process of law and equal protection under law.

Wallace, whose slogan is "segregation forever," opposes a lower federal court order to admit two Negroes to the University of Alabama and says he himself will keep them out.

The kind of argument Wallace makes against the 14th Amendment—and it has been made by others — is that it was illegally adopted during the hectic reconstruction days after the Civil War.

This kind of argument never got to first base before and it won't now.

The Justice Department's single paragraph brushoff was actually a footnote in a brief filed with the court in answer to another request by Wallace to have a law, growing out of the 14th Amendment, also knocked out.

The department said: "The challenge to the validity of the 14th Amendment presents nothing of substance. The vitality of the amendment is sufficiently attested by the hundreds of cases decided under it for the greater part of a century."

This is the reasoning behind that:

In more than a thousand cases the court has given decisions involving due process or equal protection under the 14th Amendment. Thus, by using the amendment, the court long ago validated it.

Further, the Supreme Court has held that:

Once an amendment has been officially certified as the 14th was—for instance, when Congress agrees an amendment was approved by the necessary number of states and the secretary of state certifies that it was—that ends it.

In this case on July 21, 1868, Congress passed a concurrent resolution that "three fourths and more" of the states had ratified the 14th Amendment and that it was thereby "declared to be part of the Constitution."

On July 28, 1868, the secretary of state certified that the 14th Amendment had become valid. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes remarked that: "This decision of the political departments of the government as to the validity of the 14th Amendment has been accepted."

But the Justice Department spent the rest of its brief on the second move Wallace made to get a law dating back to 1871—Article 10, Section 333 of the U.S. Code—declared unconstitutional.

Under this law a President can send troops into a state where there is "domestic violence" that hinders the execution of the laws of the United States.

For example if there should be a race riot in Alabama, where whites control the police, the President might decide that Negroes might be denied equal protection guaranteed them by the 14th Amendment.

In such a case the President, if he felt local authorities wouldn't or couldn't give Negroes protection, could send in troops. Recently there was a riot in Birmingham. After the riot Kennedy sent troops into Alabama.

He didn't send them into Birmingham. There was no need for them then. He sent them to two Army bases near Birmingham. From there they could quickly be moved into the city if a riot began again.

Kennedy didn't need Article 10, Section 333 to send troops into Birmingham to Army bases. As President he can move troops anywhere. But if he sent them into Birmingham to stop a new riot he would then invoke Article 10.

Nevertheless, the Justice Department told the court, although Kennedy hasn't yet invoked Article 10, Wallace wants it declared unconstitutional.

But the Justice Department urged the court to say that if the President should think it necessary to use Article 10, Section 333, he can legally do so and that therefore the law is constitutional.

Since presidents repeatedly in the past have used troops under Article 10, it's a pretty good bet the court isn't going to pay attention to Wallace, particularly since he's complaining about a law that hasn't been used on him.

The Doctor Says

Doctor Helps You Skirt Hazards of Pregnancy

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Pregnancy is a normal physical condition, but fraught with complications if the mother suffers from conditions such as diabetes, tuberculosis or endocarditis.

If a woman with a chronic disease becomes pregnant, it is the pregnancy that complicates the disease, rather than the other way around.

The pregnancy may make the disease worse, and if it causes sufficient impairment of the mother's health, the result may be miscarriage or even death of the mother.

This is not to say that, should such a woman become pregnant, skillful obstetrical care could not bring both her and the baby through safely.

On the other hand, a pregnant woman runs the same risk as any other woman of getting any disease in the course of her pregnancy. Of this type of complication the worst, considering her condition, is German measles. If it occurs in the first few weeks of the pregnancy, it may result in gross deformity of the baby.

For that reason a pregnant woman should avoid any contact with a known case of German measles, even if she believes she had the disease as a child.

If the German measles occurs in one of her own children or if she finds she has otherwise been exposed, she should be given gamma globulin at once. This will protect her, but it will not be effective unless it is given within a week after exposure.

There are certain hazards or complications inherent in the pregnancy itself. These are referred to as the toxemias of pregnancy, and it is because they must be recognized and treated at their very onset that a pregnant woman should have a series of checkups of her urine and blood pressure throughout pregnancy.

Warning signals should be reported immediately.

"Toxemia" means poison in the blood. The poisons responsible are derived from protein metabolism in the mother and the developing embryo. These metabolic products are always present, but in the woman with toxemia, the power of the liver to neutralize the poisons and of the kidneys to excrete them is impaired.

This may set up a vicious cycle. The more poison, the greater the damage to the kidneys and liver. Therefore, if a woman who has had any previous disease of these organs becomes pregnant, she must be watched closely for signs of toxemia.

If such signs appear, she should stay in bed and take a meatless, eggless diet consisting of bread, milk, vegetables and fruit until the condition is brought under control. As improvement occurs, activity can be gradually increased and dietary restrictions cautiously lifted.

The mildest complication of pregnancy is "morning sickness," or the morning vomiting. Fortunately, we now have several drugs that control this vomiting.

Far more serious is the disease known as eclampsia. It is most common in first pregnancies. In the initial stage the urine becomes scanty, there is headache, swelling of the feet and blurred vision.

Prompt action is required to prevent the development of severe and possibly fatal convulsions. Combined treatment with Epsom salts, drugs to reduce the blood pressure, and barbiturates almost always brings about a rapid improvement.

In the few instances in which the condition of the mother worsens in spite of the best medical treatment, labor must be induced prematurely if the mother is to be saved. Fortunately, with improved methods of treatment, this is rarely necessary.

The Mature Parent

In Adult-Dressed America

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I replied recently to a letter from a young mother who couldn't decide whether she should deny her 4-year-old boy's desire to watch her take a bath — or indulge his curiosity.

I want to amplify my answer.

In New Guinea, it is just fine for grownups to permit little children to watch them take baths if the children want to bother doing it. I doubt if they want to. They've been around adult nakedness from the time they were born. It's as commonplace to them as the trodden earth of their village.

But the small boy of whom the young mother wrote does not live in New Guinea. He lives in an American city in a habit of being grownups who clothe their nakedness. So the revelation of his mother's nudity cannot be commonplace for him. It can only be one thing — sensational.

And it is not wise to associate shock and astoundedness with grown-up nakedness for little children.

Some day they will start adolescence, and the shock and astoundedness which has been connected with the naked adult body can make it unnecessarily complicated to grow into their own maturing bodies with ease and confidence.

We do not have to make big dramatic Victorian deals of our wish to maintain our physical privacy. If a small one comes upon us without any clothes on, we don't have to rush to hide ourselves. If we are easy with our own bodies, we should be able to say casually, "Close the door, please. I'm dressing."

And if the subject of our nakedness is pursued by word or act, deal with the curiosity openly by saying, "There's no point in your seeing me without my clothes on. You don't see other children's fathers and mothers without their clothes on. In America, parents keep their clothes on. In some very hot countries, parents don't wear any because they want to keep cool and don't have air-conditioners. But you don't live in a country like that."

Children are very practical creatures. And recognize practical talk when they're given it.

Similarity in Headaches With Military

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Observers who have come back from Moscow compare Premier Khrushchev's troubles with his Red army generals as not unlike those Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara is having with U.S. admirals and military men.

The friction which led to the purge of Admiral George Anderson as chief of naval operations actually began last October during the Cuban crisis, when Anderson wanted to let each U.S. naval commander operate on his own in Cuban waters when it came to stopping Russian ships.

President Kennedy and Secretary McNamara over-ruled him. They felt that the situation was too tense to let the fate of the United States rest in the hands of individual naval officers. One false move, they said, could plunge the world into war.

Admiral Anderson believed that his commanders were cool, level-headed and well trained to meet emergencies; that they should not have to query Washington on every move, 1,000 miles away.

However, the White House and the Defense Department kept a minute-to-minute control over the tense Cuban blockade, as Russian vessels steamed toward Havana.

Khrushchev's Trouble

In Moscow, at about the same time, Khrushchev was having serious troubles with his military men. There has been some ground for believing that it was the Red army that urged the placing of nuclear missiles in Cuba in the first place. But whether true or not, there is no doubt that Marshall Malinovsky, No. 1 power in the Red army, was furious when Khrushchev removed them.

It was shortly after this that Malinovsky made the unusual criticism of Khrushchev's role at the battle of Stalingrad where he had served as civilian commissar and recently has been given chief credit for victory. Marshall Malinovsky, in a public statement, played down Khrushchev's role, said that the decisions of the Russian general staff had won the victory.

This was equivalent to a statement by the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff in Washington that John F. Kennedy was not much of a hero in the PT boat rescue in the South Pacific.

Shortly after this, Marshall Malinovsky went to Indonesia. While absent, Khrushchev removed Marshall Matvei Zakharov as chief of staff of the Red army, replaced him with Marshall Sergei Biryuzov, a rocket expert, and a man closer to Khrushchev's ideas against big land armies.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Don't tell me to see a psychiatrist. My problem is a psychiatrist. I have been in analysis for almost seven months and have made good progress. I'm able to get out of bed in the morning and go to work, which is more than I could manage a year ago. But — I pay my doctor $25 for what is supposed to be a 45 minute session and he never gives me more than 35 minutes.

During those 35 minutes he accepts telephone calls (last week three) and he made one telephone call on his own. He frequently excuses himself to go to the washroom on my time. Last week he left and was gone for 12 minutes. Yesterday while I was free-associating he ate an apple and read the newspaper. I don't think he heard a word I said.

May I hear your opinion on this? —RIGHT OR WRONG?

Dear Right or Wrong: The next time you "free-associate," unload your feelings and let him have it with both barrels. And eat an apple while you're at it.

If the analyst feels you should see someone else he'll tell you. I am not suggesting a change of doctors, however, since you seem to be making progress and THIS is what really matters.

Dear Ann Landers: Counting my husband, I have five kids. Don has always helped at home cheerfully and willingly and I thought it was mighty nice of him until I learned what a big deal he was making of it at the office.

One of Don's colleagues informed me "for my own good" that he should not be doing MY work because he is too important a man in the business. "He should be saving his energy for his career," she said. She also volunteered to give him the life he deserved if I should feel inclined to let him free.

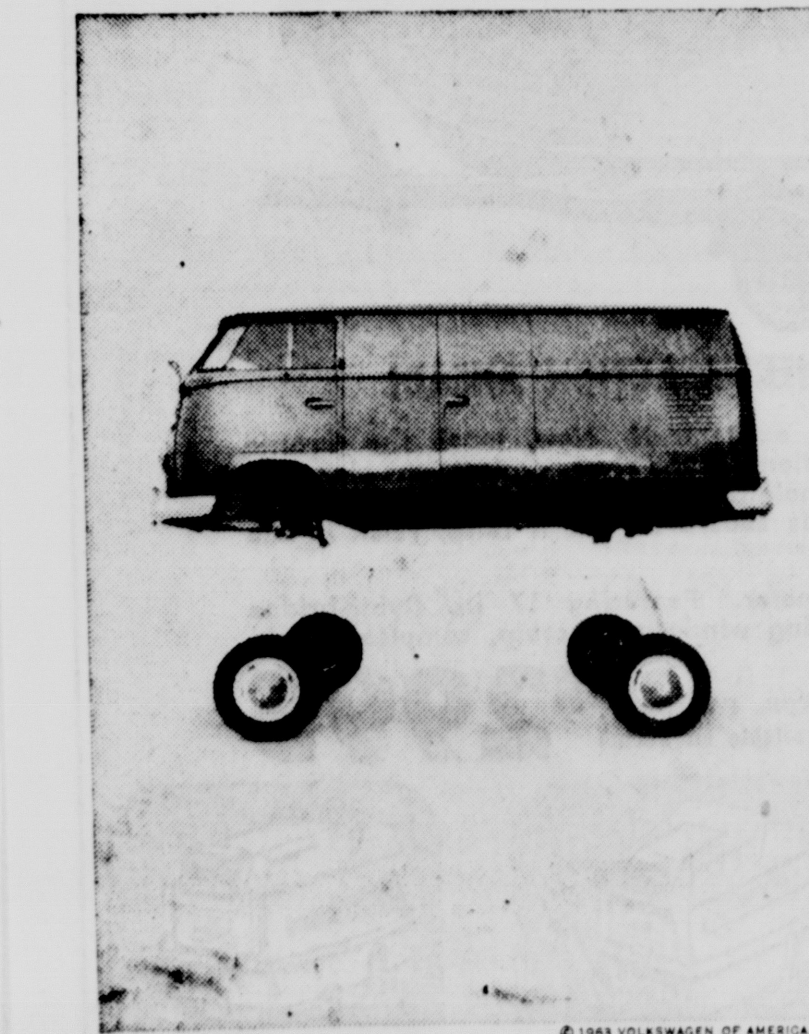

Miss "Goodheart" was transferred out of town last year but they still keep in touch professionally.

This summer my husband gets an expense - paid trip to Europe. He has been promising for five years that if the company ever sent him abroad he would take me along. Well you guessed it. Now we can't afford it — unless I decide to use the money we have saved for a bigger house.

"Miss Goodheart" will of course be in Europe at the convention — with bells on. I'm dying to go

If it doesn't have a frame, how come it's so strong?

The Volkswagen Truck isn't bolted together like most conventional trucks. It's welded. In fact, the VW's body goes through a revolving welding gizmo that turns it into one hunk of steel. (13,000 welds per truck; you'd think they were building a ship.) How strong does this make the VW truck? Strong enough to carry practically a ton of stuff. (1,830 pounds, to be exact.) The amazing thing is that the VW weighs only about half as much as a conventional, light-duty truck. Yet, it's strong enough to hold almost twice as much. Of course, the fact that the VW doesn't have a radiator or a drive shaft or a long front hood, helps keep the weight down and the economy up. The nice thing is that you can drive this strongbox and still put your profits in the bank.

and the decision is mine but we need a bigger house and it will be another year before he can afford it if I blow the money on the trip. What do you say? —GREEN EYES

Dear Eyes: Start Packing. You've lived in the house THIS long, so another year won't kill you.

And when you tell your husband of your decision, leave "Miss Goodheart" out of it. No man has to go to Europe to see abroad.

Dear Anna Landers: This letter is from a teenager who agrees with you 9 times out of 10.

My question is this: Why is it that when you print something that supports parents they can't wait to shove it in our faces? More than once I've found your column pinned to my pillow, or lying on my dinner plate. Yet when you stick up for teenagers my parents never say a word. Sometimes, in fact, they try to ditch the newspaper.

I say if you are going to be used as the authority then your advice should be accepted ALL the time, and not just when it suits our parents' purposes. Please comment. —BATTILING BONNIE

Dear Bonnie: No advice should be followed slavishly because circumstances alter cases. But a parent who is unwilling to give an inch, or admit that teens DO have a point, will lose out because he will be considered opinionated and unjust.

New Bowling Association Is Formed

A new bowling association for proprietors of various bowling establishments throughout Missouri was formed at a meeting held in Jefferson City Wednesday. It is to be known as the Independent Lane Owners Association, and is a state organization. The meeting was held at the Holiday Inn in the Capital City. The organization will be formed for the betterment and promotion of the game of bowling.

In Missouri there are several small independent groups, and many of the membership did not belong to the Missouri Bowling Proprietors, and after a survey it was decided to hold one big meeting to discuss the proposition of forming a state organization.

Bill Marshall of Joplin was elected as the temporary chairman and Jim Watson of Vandalia was elected as temporary secretary-treasurer. Various committees were then appointed by Marshall.

Don Anderson of Hillcrest Lanes of Sedalia, attended the meeting and was then appointed to the junior bowling committee.

It was announced the organization will close applications for charter members on August 1.

Membership is open to any independent bowling proprietor in Missouri.

This new organization is sponsoring the first AJCB tournament which is scheduled to be held at Hillcrest and the Broadway Lanes in Sedalia starting the weekend of June 8 and 9, to be completed the weekend of June 15 and 16.

The next meeting of this new organization will be held at the Westgate Lanes in Jefferson City at 10 a.m. June 26. Bowling proprietors interested are encouraged to attend.

Four Independent Teams See Action

Four teams saw action in the Independent Softball League Thursday night at Centennial Park, with Boeing and O'Connor's teams coming out on top.

Boeing whipped Boeing Cebac 18-2 in a contest that saw Cebac commit 10 errors. Hackney, the winning pitcher, held Cebac to two hits, while the winning Boeing squad collected 12 hits. Porter took the loss.

Hutchinson pitched a one-hit shut-out for O'Connor's as that team edged LaMonte 1-0. O'Connor's collected two hits and committed two errors while LaMonte managed only one hit and was credited with four errors.

In non-league action this Saturday, O'Connor's will go against the Whiteman AFB service team at Centennial Park at 7:30 p.m.

New Road To Top Of Everest

American Teams Reach Top From Different Sides

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Two American teams scaled Mt. Everest from different sides and staged a dramatic meeting at the top of the world's highest mountain Wednesday.

It was the first such encounter in history and the first time any nation had four of its citizens atop the peak at one time. Five Americans have made it to the top in the past month, more than any other country has ever sent to the summit.

Radio reports today said the two American teams met at 9 p.m. Wednesday night and bivouaced in the open without tents and without sleeping bags.

Most spectacular feature was that William F. Unsoeld, Corvallis, Ore., and Thomas F. Hornbein, San Diego, Calif., made it up the hitherto unscathed west ridge—long considered unclimbable—crossed over the 29,028-foot peak and started down the other side.

This was the first traverse of Everest in history.

Barry C. Bishop, Washington, D.C., and Luther G. Jerstad, Eugene, Ore., were reported by radio today to have made the top via the south ridge—the traditional route to the top—about three hours before Unsoeld and Hornbein got there.

This makes five Americans who have stood on "the roof of the world."

"We are all very proud," said U.S. Ambassador Henry Endicott Stebbins. Expedition leader Norman R. Dyhrenfurth, Santa Monica, Calif., said the traverse exploit had been the "dream of mountaineers for decades."

There was wild cheering at the American Embassy as the radio reports reached here.

There had been little hope Unsoeld and Hornbein would succeed after they lost much of their oxygen and food in a snowslide and windstorm last Thursday.

The gripping account of the conquest of the perilous west ridge came in terse walkie-talkie radio messages from Unsoeld and Hornbein.

Pope Rallies Against His Illness

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope John XXIII, apparently rallying in his struggle against energy-sapping illness, stood at his studio window for three minutes Thursday as thousands in St. Peter's Square cheered him.

He responded with a smile and blessing, showing more vigor than he displayed in a similar window appearance Wednesday.

Around Rome, on this Ascension Thursday holiday, priests in many churches asked their parishioners to pray for the 81-year-old Roman Catholic ruler.

The prayers indicated constant concern for the Pope, although Vatican sources said he was vastly improved after blood transfusions and rest.

His regular Rome doctor, Piero Mazzoni, is continuing to call regularly at the Vatican and to sleep in the apostolic palace.

Pope John has been suffering from anemia and a stomach disorder—believed an ulcer or cancer with hemorrhaging—since last November. He also has a chronic prostate condition.

His ailment has been marked by ups and downs. He reportedly suffered a setback about May 7. Another relapse occurred earlier this week. Vatican sources said he received a blood transfusion Thursday night. He has been receiving transfusions at intervals.

"The Pope was better today than yesterday, and yesterday he was better than Tuesday," one Vatican source said. Another said the Tuesday night transfusion was "a real tonic."

The Pope himself gave dramatic evidence of his improvement.

Man Dies in Court

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Roy W. Aldrich, 68, was in Municipal Court Thursday for trial on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way.

He pleaded innocent and listened to the testimony.

Suddenly he slumped over. An ambulance took him to the hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Graduation Time For Lowe Family

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)—It's graduation time for the J. C. Lowe family in Carthage.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowe have four daughters and they're all graduating.

Nancy Jane, 17, gets her high school diploma Thursday night. Sara Elizabeth, 15, graduates Friday night from junior high. Marilinda, 12, graduates from elementary school and celebrates with a picnic Friday afternoon. Kristina, 6, will graduate from kindergarten Saturday night.

Damage Suits At $220,000 In Accident

Damage suits adding up to $220,000 were filed in Circuit Court Thursday morning against the estate of the late Roy E. Gerster, in connection with an accident east of Sedalia Feb. 14, in which Gerster and three others lost their lives.

Three persons were injured in the accident, which occurred about three miles east of Sedalia on Highway 50, early in the evening. The Gerster car was headed east and a 1952 Packard, driven by William B. Hockaday, was headed west when the two cars met.

In the petitions for damages, five in all, the plaintiffs maintain that Gerster was negligent in traveling too fast and not maintaining control of his car.

In the accident Gerster, Mrs. Gerster, and William Hockaday and James Hockaday, a passenger in the car driven by his brother, lost their lives.

Mrs. Ruby Chancellor, her sons Alan Chancellor and John Michael Chancellor, were passengers in the Gerster car, the petitions maintain. All three passengers (Please turn to page 4, column 4)

Inquest Set In Death Of Mrs. Carter

Coroner's Jury To View Body, Hear Testimony

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Helen Carter, 29, 724 West Cooper, who died at Bothwell Hospital at 4:45 o'clock Wednesday evening after being shot by her husband Benny M. Carter, 33, will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning.

The inquest hearing will be conducted at the courthouse in the Assembly Room by Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer, coroner, and Prosecuting Attorney J. R. Fritz.

The jury composed of E. B. Smith, Abe Silverman, Jack McMurdo, Bill Howell, Bill Palmer and Robert Schultz, will meet at the Alexander Funeral Home at 9 o'clock with Dr. Stauffer, Prosecutor Fritz and Sheriff Emmett Fairfax and view the body. They will then go directly to the courthouse where they will convene for the hearing.

Mrs. Carter was in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Ford, 728 West Cooper, when the shooting occurred. Carter emphatically claims the shooting was an accident and happened while he was showing off a .22 caliber pistol which he said his wife had bought for him. The incident took place about 2:40 a.m. Wednesday.

Youth Runs Away When Bluff Is Met

LAMAR, Mo. (AP)—Chester Sales, 62, of Liberal, Mo., was on duty at the desk at the Travelers Hotel in Lamar early Thursday when a teen-ager walked in and threatened him with a shotgun.

Sales took the gun from the youth. The boy turned and fled, dropping a pistol.

Police learned the guns were stolen Wednesday night from a service station.

Guard OCS Starts Here On Saturday

The first session of the Missouri Army National Guard Officer Candidate School will begin at the Sedalia Armory at noon Saturday.

The school was moved to Sedalia from St. Louis this year, in order to have the classes in a more centrally located area, it was announced a few weeks ago.

There will be about 60 officer candidates from all over Missouri in the first class here. This class will hold ten weekend sessions during the training year, with a two-week field training session at Camp Clark at the beginning and at the end of the course.

Graduation ceremonies will be held shortly after the last field training period, when the successful candidates will receive commissions as second lieutenants in the Missouri Army National Guard.

Arrangements have been made for the candidates and instructors to have their meals at a local cafe.

Elderly Pedestrian Killed By Automobile

4 Otterville Bank Thieves Go to Prison

Heavy Sentences For Negro Men; Easier on Women

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Two Negro men and two white women from Kansas City were sentenced to prison Thursday for a botched bank robbery.

Wilbur William Kennedy, 41, and Clarence Anthony Sayles, 24, drew terms of up to 18 years and Mrs. Caroline Williams Chenning, 18, was sentenced up to eight years for armed bank robbery.

Mrs. Barbara Sue McAnaney Hamilton, 22, was sentenced under the youthful criminal act for receiving part of the stolen money. She was given an indefinite term of one to six years. Mrs. Hamilton had previously entered a plea of innocent to a robbery charge, but this week changed her plea to guilty on a lesser count of receiving part of the loot.

Judge Floyd R. Gibson imposed the sentences in federal court. All four defendants pleaded guilty.

The $2,514 bank robbery was Feb. 21 at Otterville, a town of 400 on U. S. 50 about 13 miles east of Sedalia.

Two men and a woman invaded the bank and locked four employees and three customers in the vault. When they started to flee, their stolen, 10-year-old getaway car wouldn't start, but an unsuspecting townsman came along in his pickup and gave them a push.

The four were caught about six hours later at a Negro lake resort 10 miles southwest of Stover, Mo.

Officers found them as the result of detective work by Wayne Miller, a farmer who lives near Stover and is one of a network of volunteer lookouts often called into service by Sheriff J. T. Hull of Morgan County.

All but a few dollars of the loot was recovered.

Mail Box Month For Improvement Of Appearances

May is "Mail Box Improvement Month" and Maurice Hogan, postmaster, asks people on the rural routes to take a look at their mail boxes and see if they are adequate. First, he explained, it should be one that protects the mail well, and then it should be one that the family would not be ashamed of. The name on the box should be legible, this makes it much easier for the rural mail carrier, as well as friends who do not know just where the rural home is located that they are trying to find.

Most of the patrons, however, have improved their boxes through the years.

The rule used to be, Hogan stated, that the boxes must be painted white or aluminum, but now people may express themselves in any color and any way they please through their mail boxes, the only requirement being that it protects the mail and the name is so that it is easy to read.

Indigent Aid Bill Approved By Senate

Confusion Reigns In Capital

Cotton Legislation Fate Is Caught Up In Uncertainty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Confusion existed in the nation's capital Thursday—and it may continue for some time—regarding prospects of a government wheat program for 1964.

Caught up in the uncertainty is the fate of new cotton legislation, to say nothing of the financial outlook for grain producers.

Both administration and congressional leaders still were eying the farmers' referendum rejection of the Kennedy administration's new wheat control plan Tuesday from the emotional viewpoint—Democrats as a whole showing pique and Republicans jubilation.

There was a sharp division of opinion among farm, administration and legislative leaders as to the prospects of congressional passage of an alternative wheat program.

Perhaps a better judgment on the outlook can be made within a week or so, after feelings have cooled from the referendum decision.

The legislative outlook is clouded by two major factors, not the least of which is partisan politics. Republicans quite naturally want to make capital of the situation for next year's presidential election. Their leaders will be pushing hard to pass a wheat plan more acceptable to growers than the tight-control, two-price plan soundly defeated in a record grower referendum turnout.

Democrats will try to thwart these Republican efforts.

Another factor is that there is a sharp difference of opinion as to what influenced farmers to reject the administration plans. Both President Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman have interpreted the results as an indication that the so-called freedom issue was the dominating influence.

The White House announced that Kennedy signed an executive order Wednesday night giving Freeman special power to prevent the dumping of American wheat on world markets next year if the U.S. price drops as Kennedy predicts it will.

The order gives Freeman broad authority to prohibit exports under the International Wheat Agreement Act.

Republican congressional leaders said Freeman should resign because they said his program has been repudiated. This suggestion came from Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

Halleck said Republicans will insist that the present Congress enact sound and constructive farm legislation, but he added that the primary responsibility is with the administration and the Democratic majorities in Congress.

Sen. Symington Denies Report That He's Ailing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., denied Thursday a published report he is ailing and is considering resigning from the Senate.

"There is not a bit of truth to it," Symington said in response to a query about a report in the Mid-American Republican, a monthly publication in Jefferson County, Missouri, that he is ailing and will resign in late 1963 or early 1964.

Symington, who will be 62 on June 26, said he got up "at 7 golf balls" before starting a normal heavy Senate schedule.

He held several federal government posts, including the secretaryship of the Air Force, before being elected to the Senate in 1962. He was re-elected in 1962 to a term which ends Jan. 3, 1965.

Symington said he has made no announcement about seeking a third term, but is not planning to resign.

"Someone has been spreading rumors like this in Missouri recently," he said.

Pickup Overturns Killing One Man

GARNETT, Kan. (AP)—A pickup truck loaded with machinery overturned Thursday, killing one man and injuring another.

The dead man was Thomas R. Rainear of Philadelphia. Highway Patrolman Bill Gray said the truck was owned by James M. Ussery of Kansas City, who was injured and was brought to the Garnett hospital. Gray said he believed the driver was Rainear, who was thrown out and crushed under the machinery.

The accident was on U. S. 39 two miles north of Garnett.

Truck Bill On Length Is Vetoed

Height Increase Plan Goes Out In Same Bill

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. John M. Dalton vetoed Thursday a bill to let longer and higher trucks use Missouri's main highways.

The bill would have increased the maximum length of automobile transport trucks from 50 to 60 feet. The longer length also would have applied to trucks hauling empty wooden barrels.

The height limit on all trucks would have been boosted from 12½ to 13½ feet.

The governor approved a bill earlier raising maximum weight limits for trucks. Unlike the bill vetoed, the weight bill had the approval of the State Highway Department.

The governor based his veto primarily on safety considerations. He said he also had grave doubts about the bill's constitutionality.

He pointed out privately owned passenger cars make the most use of the highways and they, with light and medium trucks, pay $3 of every $4 of highway revenue.

"We must give attention to the highway travel problems of the average citizens," he said in his four-page veto message. "We owe to them the obligation to do what we reasonably can to make their travel on our highways convenient, enjoyable and, above all, free from unnecessary hazard."

Dalton noted that passing trucks create one of the biggest hazards on highways.

"The longer the passing vehicle must remain in the wrong lane of traffic," he said, "the greater the danger to which it is exposed."

Record Is Expected

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Mexico's 1963 wheat production is expected to be around 1.5 million tons, a record, officials say.

At Smith-Cotton High School

McLeod Is Valedictorian; Rissler Is Salutatorian

Michael Brian McLeod, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. McLeod, 224 South Vermont, is the valedictorian of the Smith-Cotton High School 1963 graduating class of 218 seniors, with Karen Sue Rissler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Rissler, Route 4, as salutatorian, according to an announcement by Forrest L. Drake, principal.

The commencement services will be held at the Jennie Jaynes Stadium at 8 p.m. Thursday, if the weather is warm and there is no threat of rain. Otherwise it will be held in Smith-Cotton's new physical education building.

The program will be as follows: Processional, Coronation March from "The Prophet."

Invocation will be given by Rev. William E. Lusk, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, after which the High School Band, directed by Bob Cummings will play "March and Musette."

The commencement address will be given by Ike Skelton, attorney at law, Lexington.

Forrest L. Drake, principal, will make the presentation of the awards of honor and of the class.

Dr. T. J. Norris, superintendent of Sedalia public schools will present the diplomas.

The Girls Glee Club under the direction of Mrs. William Faulkner, will sing "Now the Day is Over" by Joseph Barnby, and Rev. Roy B. Strubling, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will give the benediction.

22-0 Vote Sends Bill To The House

Describe Program As Modest Approach To Aid Problem

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A bill to expand Missouri's medical and hospital care for the indigent was passed by the Senate Thursday. A 22-0 vote sent it to the House.

The program is described by its sponsors as a modest approach to the medical care problem under the federal Kerr-Mills plan. It would cost an estimated $4 million in state funds and $10 million in federal funds for the first two years.

Missouri now provides hospital care only in cases of medical emergencies or acute serious illness.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. William J. Cason, D-Clinton, was developed by a special study committee which Cason, headed. It would authorize hospitalization of a welfare client if a doctor certified it was needed.

It also covers payments for drugs and dental care for the first time.

The amount allowed for bedfast patients would be increased from $100 to $110 a month and the amount for nursing home care from $70 to $80.

Earlier Sen. Michael Kinney, D-St. Louis, tried to take up House changes in his Sunday sales bill, passed by the House Wednesday. But he had to lay the bill over because some senators interested in it were absent.

The bill is designed to replace the 138-year-old blue law knocked out by the State Supreme Court in March.

The Senate also advanced a bill to set up a new "Little Hoover Commission" to recommend improvements in the state government.

Sen. Albert M. Spradling, D-Cape Girardeau, recalled that the first such commission 10 years ago.

Lions Urge Bell-Ringing

A movement is sweeping the country to inaugurate a new national observance of American Independence. It is a proposal for community-wide ringing of bells at a given time on July 4.

Quick to respond to this is the Sedalia Lions club which initiated a resolution to join in and encourage this nation-wide plan as symbolic of freedom and independence. Subsequently this group sponsored adoption of a similar resolution at the Missouri District convention in Kansas City and also proposes to present it for adoption at the International convention in Miami, Fla., in June.

This gesture is typical of the Lions club's primary cooperation in so many fields of community activities.

The bell-ringing project should tend to renew citizen awareness of our heritage of freedom on Independence Day. Any proposal that can accomplish this objective is laudable but, may we say, not easy. To make it succeed much promotion is required.

We know the Lions club will not be remiss in this respect. They understand the meaning of promotion which has made so many of their projects successful.

Although the bell-ringing idea is something new, we wish the Lions or any other group would help revive public interest also in display of the American Flag not only on July 4, but on all other patriotic occasions such as Memorial Day, Flag Day, Labor Day, Veterans' Day and other recognized holidays.

Display of the flag in peace time has well-nigh become a forgotten obligation. Only a bloody war seems to bring desire to unfurl Old Glory.

Undoubtedly the bell-ringing project which the Lions club endorses will bring resurgence of patriotic emotions which have been too impulsive too long.

Let's swell this sentiment on bell-ringing day, July 4, and on other occasions, by displaying the American Flag in front of our homes and business places.

NEW YORK DAILY NEWS: Anti-Colonialism: Or Is It? — Since World War II, Great Britain has been freeing its onetime colonies as fast as it could.

Since the American Revolution, the United States has opposed colonialism. In recent years, it has frequently put the arm on Britain, France, Portugal, etc., to free their remaining colonies as fast as feasible, if not faster.

The world's most aggressive colonialist nation, Soviet Russia, has now made a colony out of Cuba, 90 miles off Florida.

So-o-o, Britain and the United States are co-operating vigorously in the Caribbean to prevent hit-and-run raids on Cuba by Cuban exiles hoping to free their homeland from colonialist Russia.

In these performances by ex-colonialist Britain and the anti-colonialist U. S. A., we seem to smell, to say the least, a slight inconsistency.

Frightening Prospect

Though Adm. George W. Anderson, Chief of Naval Operations, considers sabotage a remote prospect in the loss of the nuclear submarine Thresher, past history works against ruling it out.

It has been disclosed that when our first atomic vessel, the Nautilus, was in Portsmouth naval yard for repairs four years ago, some 235 separate sabotage efforts were made in a two-week period. All involved deliberate cuts in armored, cable-style wiring affecting ship controls.

The FBI failed to turn up the saboteurs, despite hard search. Its quest was similarly fruitless in the case of another nuclear submarine and a guided missile destroyer, both of which suffered sabotage later in 1959.

Whether this kind of thing is the work of conscious foreign agents or simply of disgruntled workmen, it is not very heartening to hear that it can occur in the tight security atmosphere of a U.S. naval shipyard—or that the perpetrators can go undiscovered.

Whatever the cause of the Thresher's sinking, we would all gain from assurances that far tighter screening of workmen is now being applied in critical naval defense tasks. Obviously, too, it should not overlook men of a temperamental weakness which might lead them to work out personal resentments in actions against the nation's safety.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Strange Pair May Meet in Alabama

WASHINGTON — John F. Kennedy and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama may be in an interesting, if not embarrassing, spot May 18, when the President of the United States visits northern Alabama to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Under well established protocol, the governor of any state is supposed to greet the President of the United States when he visits his state, regardless of any invitation by the President. But no two men could have less in common than Kennedy and Wallace.

One is a northern Catholic; the other a southern Protestant. One is a champion of civil rights for the Negro; the other a rooster-totin' segregationist. One has been close to the Ku Klux Klan and received Klan support in his election. The other is against everything the Klan stands for.

Finally, the Governor of Alabama not only blasted President Kennedy regarding plans to send federal troops into Alabama, but 48 hours earlier had withdrawn Alabama State Highway Troops from Birmingham just as it became known that the Ku Klux Klan was going to parade in a suburb of Birmingham.

This, of all times, was the moment to have a full police force on hand in and around Birmingham. For there is nothing more likely to touch off rioting against Negroes, and Negro counterattacks, than a public cross-burning by the hated and feared Ku Klux Klan. For years it has struck terror into the hearts of Southern Negroes.

In downtown Birmingham, more than 2,000 Negroes had been arrested on the charge of parading and meeting without a permit when they walked peacefully in anti-segregation protests or knelt in prayer.

Yet when the Klan was scheduled to hold a mass meeting of 2,500 in Bessemer, a suburb of Birmingham, the Governor disbanded his 250-man State Highway Police Force which

The World Today

Moon Landing Before World Peace

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — (AP) — While man triumphed beyond the imaginings and abilities of his grandfather—in the earth-orbiting of astronaut Gordon Cooper—here below man didn't change much.

President Kennedy called Cooper's feat one of the "victories of the human spirit." Thousands had a part in it. It was a supreme example of how men working together can achieve a dream.

But in the time it took Cooper to orbit 22 times in space, 20th century man on earth was still involved in situations which had not progressed beyond the inclinations and abilities of the men who lived in caves.

They included tyranny, spying, sudden death by executioners, racial prejudice, suspicion, insecurity and man's inability to get along with his neighbors for his own sake.

While Cooper talked to earth from his space ship, President Duvalier, the tyrant of illiterate and poverty-stricken Haiti, was telling newsmen he intended to keep the presidency even though his legal term ended as he talked.

Reason and justice and the will of the people—three other victories which man achieved late and often forgets—are not considerations in Duvalier's lust for power. In fairness to Duvalier it must be said he is not the only tyrant loose in this century. He's just clumsier than some of the others.

Meanwhile Moscow was reporting that Col. Oleg Penkovsky, convicted of spying for the West after a Soviet trial, was executed in accordance with the findings of the court.

This happened while Britain was accusing an Italian scientist, Dr. Giuseppe E. Martelli, of spying for Russia.

The spying the West does on Russia and Russia on the West is such a normal condition in international relations that it looks abnormal only when discovered. It is almost bad manners to be caught.

Spying—a symbol of nations' distrust of one another—may be considered a morbid manifestation of man's insecurity and inability to get along with himself in reasonable fashion.

But it is a safe bet that man, now working overtime on the project, will learn how to reach the moon before he learns how to live at peace even though not learning may end in his own annihilation.

In the South, where white citizens still insist on discriminating against Negro citizens by segregation, the racial trouble stayed cool in Birmingham, perhaps only because of Kennedy's readiness to use troops.

It boiled elsewhere. In Greensboro, N.C., hundreds of Negro students demonstrated against discrimination in a cafeteria and several theaters and went to jail for their trouble.

Since more and more Negroes of the South are showing impatience against discrimination and prejudice, in the end there may be a violence worse than anything in this century.

Reasonable arrangements there might avert disaster but reason is working grudgingly.

One thing is sure: Cooper saw more peace in space, where there was no one but himself, than he ever saw below.

Kisses That Don't Tell

DEAR POLLY — My tip is for the men. (We must stick together, you know.) Whenever I go out on a date with my gal, I always carry a little plastic pill container filled with cold cream. Lipstick comes off easily with no telltale marks. Result: no more teasing from the family.—BILL

Watch out, Bill, or that girl of yours is going to think you're pretty sure of yourself if she ever finds out that you come prepared.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To restore elasticized waistbands of various garments, thread a large needle having an eye big enough to accommodate the very narrow elastic available at the dime store by the yard. Sew right through the worn elastic, using whatever length of the narrow elastic is comfortable for you. This prolongs the life of the garment and makes the waist fit as well as when new.—RUTH

GIRLS — My first thought was what this would do for children's underpants, which always outlasts the elastic in the top.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — One way for a teen-ager like myself to make a bulletin board is to take some ribbon, perhaps a shade darker than the wall color, and run it from a spot on the wall just above the top of a table or chest of drawers to the ceiling. Fasten with tape or glue at the top and bottom. Then pin on pictures of your favorite movie stars, basketball players and other things.—CLAUDIA

GIRLS — I think Claudia has a very good and decorative solution to a problem common to young people who do like their cherished possessions on display. Mothers will like this, at it eliminates holes in the walls.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My son has been overseas in the armed forces for a number of years and is so pleased with the way I carry on my end of our correspondence, I thought some of the readers might like to try it.

I write at least once a week, so it is sometimes difficult to gather together enough interesting news. Often I enclose a small gift which will fit into an envelope. Again it might be a map of our home city on which I have marked changes that have taken place during his absence. The names of his boyhood friends, now married, have been placed on the map over the place they live, along with other notations of interest.

I have even sent small catalogues of men's clothing, so he may keep abreast of the styles. Sometimes I send a dollar bill and often he will write back and say, "Mon, you cannot imagine how wonderful it was to open the letter and find a dollar in it just at the time I was flat broke." He says other fellows also look forward to seeing what is in his letters.—MRS. C. A. A.

DEAR POLLY — Many children like to pin or tack their art work on the walls in their rooms. To prevent tack holes in the walls, cut a big brightly colored piece of oilcloth, (preferably a plain color, that goes with the room's scheme) to the width of a wire coat hanger and about four or five feet long. Glue one end of the oilcloth around the lower bar of the hanger. Many pictures can be taped to the cloth and new ones added when the old ones have been displayed for a while. To eliminate even one hole for the hanger hook, use a tape-back hook that is first wet and then applied to the wall. The hanger can hook over it.—DOROTHY

Wailing Wall

Dialogue from Washington

By VERA CLAY

There are only two elected officials in the Executive Branch of the government: The President and the Vice President.

For generations, the Vice Presidency has been sloughed off as the most useless, tedious job in the government. It has been the favorite target for comedians, the butt of atrocious jokes, the place to put deserving, bland politicians who came from the right part of the country to balance the political ticket or the ceremonial place of exile for politically misguided or overly ambitious candidates.

When Harry S. Truman was catapulted to the presidency in 1945 after Franklin Roosevelt's death, the country finally realized that the Vice Presidency really was only a "heartbeat" away from the White House. This was a shock.

It was not until Richard Nixon began making presidential noises of his own that the office, itself, attracted attention even though Truman's Vice President, lovable Alben Barkley became the speech-making veep, an artful politician with a vast talent for spellbinding.

During Nixon's tenure, he was given extensive coverage by the press: His comings and goings were reported almost as fully as those of President Eisenhower and his role appeared to be an active one. He sat in for the President during Eisenhower's illness, traveled extensively and worked hard to create the legend that he would, if the occasion arose, make a good president. Eisenhower recovered. Nixon ran for President. We all know what happened.

In 1960, meantime, Lyndon Johnson, vigorous Majority Leader in the Senate threw his own Texas hat into the presidential ring. At the Democratic convention, he watched it sail right into the Kennedy camp; reluctantly but gamely became the Vice Presidential candidate; a big, able man of enormous political finesse with a brilliant, attractive wife, Lady Bird, who is as adroit a politician as her spouse. The Johnsons, probably more than any other couple in Washington represent an active, working team: relaxed in their approach but tremendously effective. Lady Bird, as the First Lady's stand-in, even before the current pregnancy, has proved, there is no substitute for experience.

Yet, a persistent Greek chorus from the wings, claims dolorously, that the Vice President's talents are being wasted: cartoons, editorials and satirical records target in on his alleged discontent with his role, his stifled presidential ambition and his abrasive relations with President Kennedy.

Nobody should break out the crying towel for Vice President Johnson. He is a big man in every sense of the word. To be sure, being second man to anyone is not exactly the role that Johnson or any other full-blooded, politician courts actively: everybody on Capitol Hill fancies himself a President. It is the Walter Mitty dream nurtured in every lawmaker's heart . . . the same way that every American mother still fondly hopes her son might become president. It has happened before; it can happen again.

Lyndon Johnson's ambition, however, has a firm foundation. He probably would have made a remarkable president in the best American tradition and who is to say that someday he may not run again? But, he is a realist. He knows now his talents are effective and useful to President Kennedy. He also is a genuine patriot who believes firmly that every man in the government has an obligation to do his utmost for the benefit of the country. He is above petty malice and duty is a word that looms large in his philosophy.

Lyndon Johnson will do his job competently and effectively, even if sometimes, there are moments of regret that he is not in the White House.

The Doctor's Mailbag

Osteomalacia; Grownups' Version of Child's Rickets

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Q — What causes osteomalacia? Can it be helped?

A — Osteomalacia is a failure of proper bone formation. In children it is called "rickets." In adults, "osteomalacia." It may be due to an insufficient intake of vitamin D, or failure of the digestive tract to absorb the vitamin D in the diet.

Since the body makes its own vitamin D when the skin is exposed to sunlight, insufficient exposure to sunlight may be a contributing factor.

Another factor may be a decrease in the blood level of calcium or phosphorus. The chief manifestations are loss of appetite, pain in the bones, softening of the bones with deformity, weakness, kidney stones, and infection of the urinary tract.

Treatment usually consists of giving calcium in the form of milk, with supplementary doses of calcium lactate, gluconate, or chloride. Vitamin D is also given, but should not be continued after the disease is cured, since too much vitamin D can do harm.

If failure of absorption of vitamin D is due to a persistent diarrhea, this must be controlled before the treatment can be effective. If the disease is due to too great a loss of calcium through the kidneys, calcium gluconate and sodium citrate should be given.

In any case, skillful management by your doctor should bring about lasting improvement.

Q — What laxative do you recommend for older persons? I have to take something every day.

A — You must have been absent from school the day I talked about generally harmful effects of laxatives.

We the Women

She's Not Outdoor Type

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Are you the outdoor type who just can't wait till your family can find healthy togetherness around the barbecue grill in the back yard?

Then your season of the year is descending upon us. And it's being heralded, as usual, by enticing articles and beautiful pictures in all the home magazines—and even in other magazines.

What the enthusiastic authors fail to mention in their eulogies to fresh air and the rustic cuisine are such things as:

The neighbors' children. An outdoor party, in the average neighborhood, attracts kids like a display of fireworks. There goes that wonderful privacy that, according to the home magazines, is so easily achieved in outdoor living. Uninvited guests from the insect world. In the tempting articles about outdoor living, there is never any mention of flies, mosquitoes, chiggers and the like.

The little chore of getting food outdoors, and all the equipment back in.

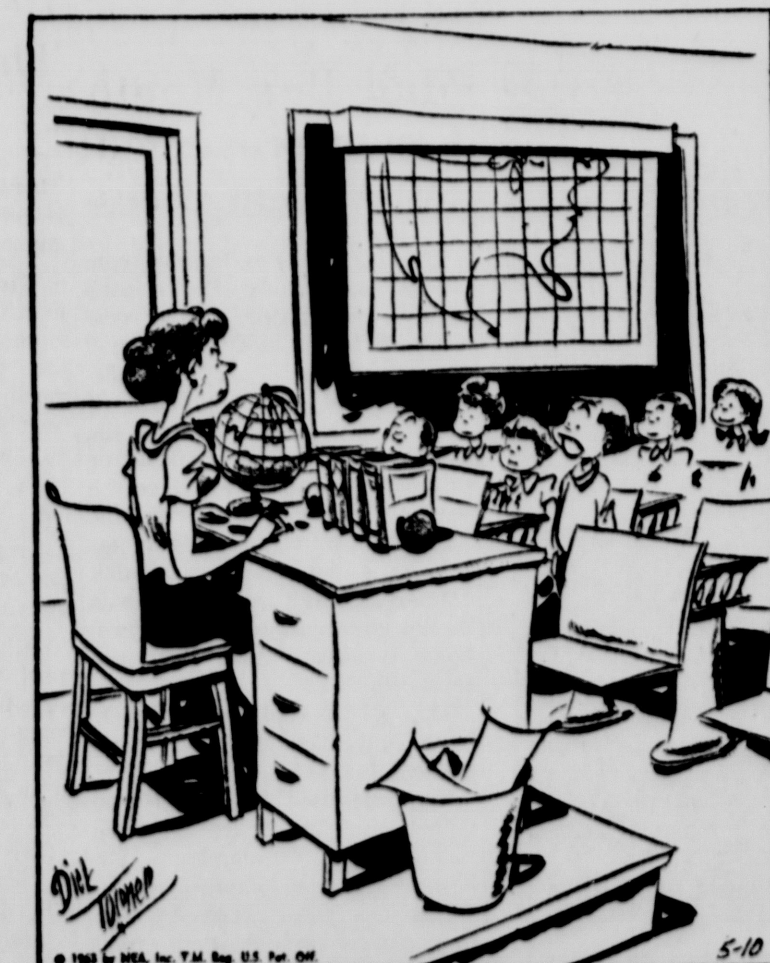

The hosts' and hostesses' own children. There seems to be something about outdoor entertaining that brings out the Tarzan in even the best-behaved children.

The weather. Plan a party too big for your living room in the fond hope that you'll be able to have it in the yard, and you've done your utmost to break a drought.

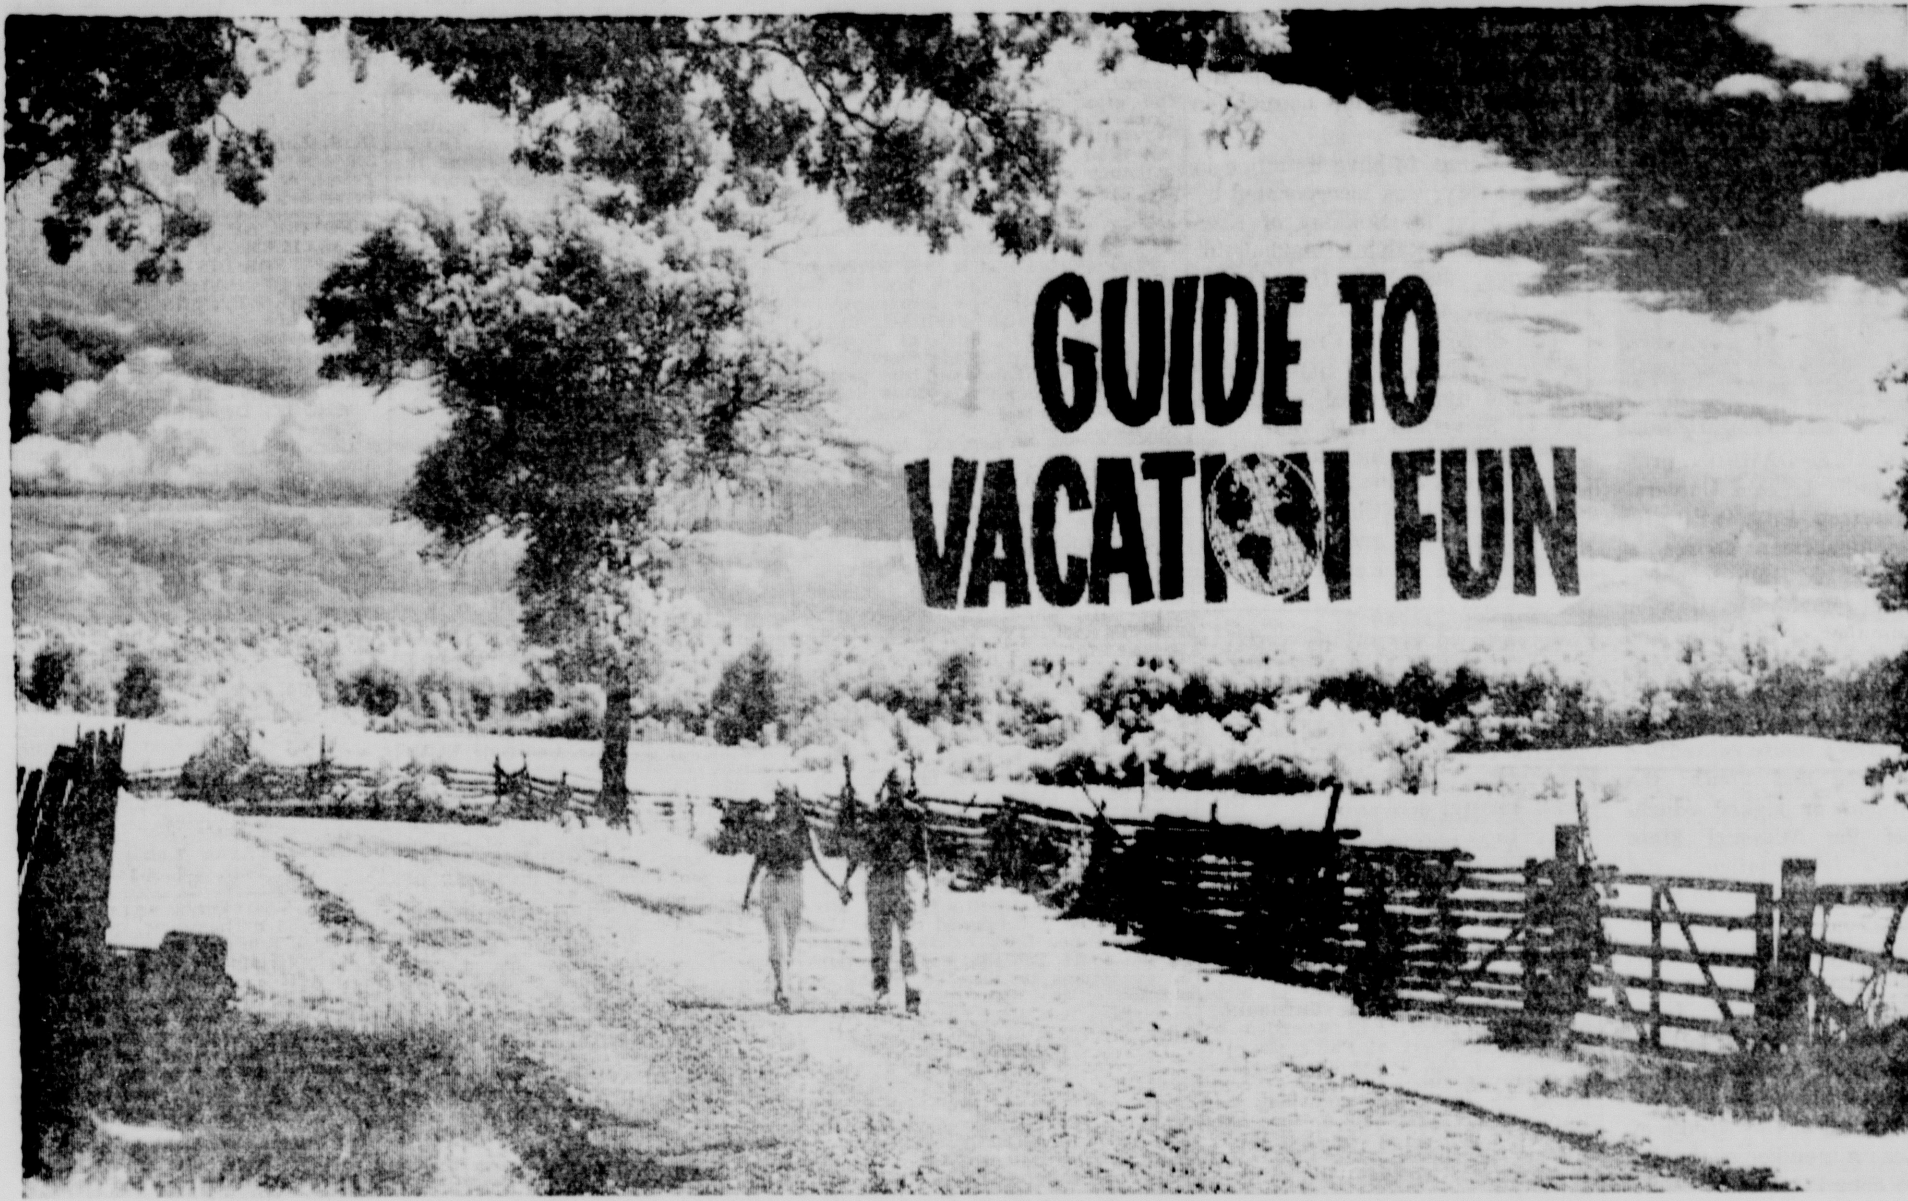

And if there is ever a more harried hostess than the planner of a would-be lawn party, trying to have an indoor picnic for a hungry hoard, you should nominate her for Harried Hostess of the Month.

CARNIVAL

WHEN THE AIR WARMS, the outdoors calls, and wanderlust may take us far away or we may need to be content with the beauty of our own backyard, but wherever we go there can be no more picturesque scenery, no more diversified recreation, no more fun and relaxation to be found than in Missouri. Along the curving country road edged by a rail fence, with nature's glories, as the background, go hand in hand, a boy and girl, enjoying the country's foremost sport of all, hiking.

Great Outdoors Call For Summer Fun

By HAZEL LANG

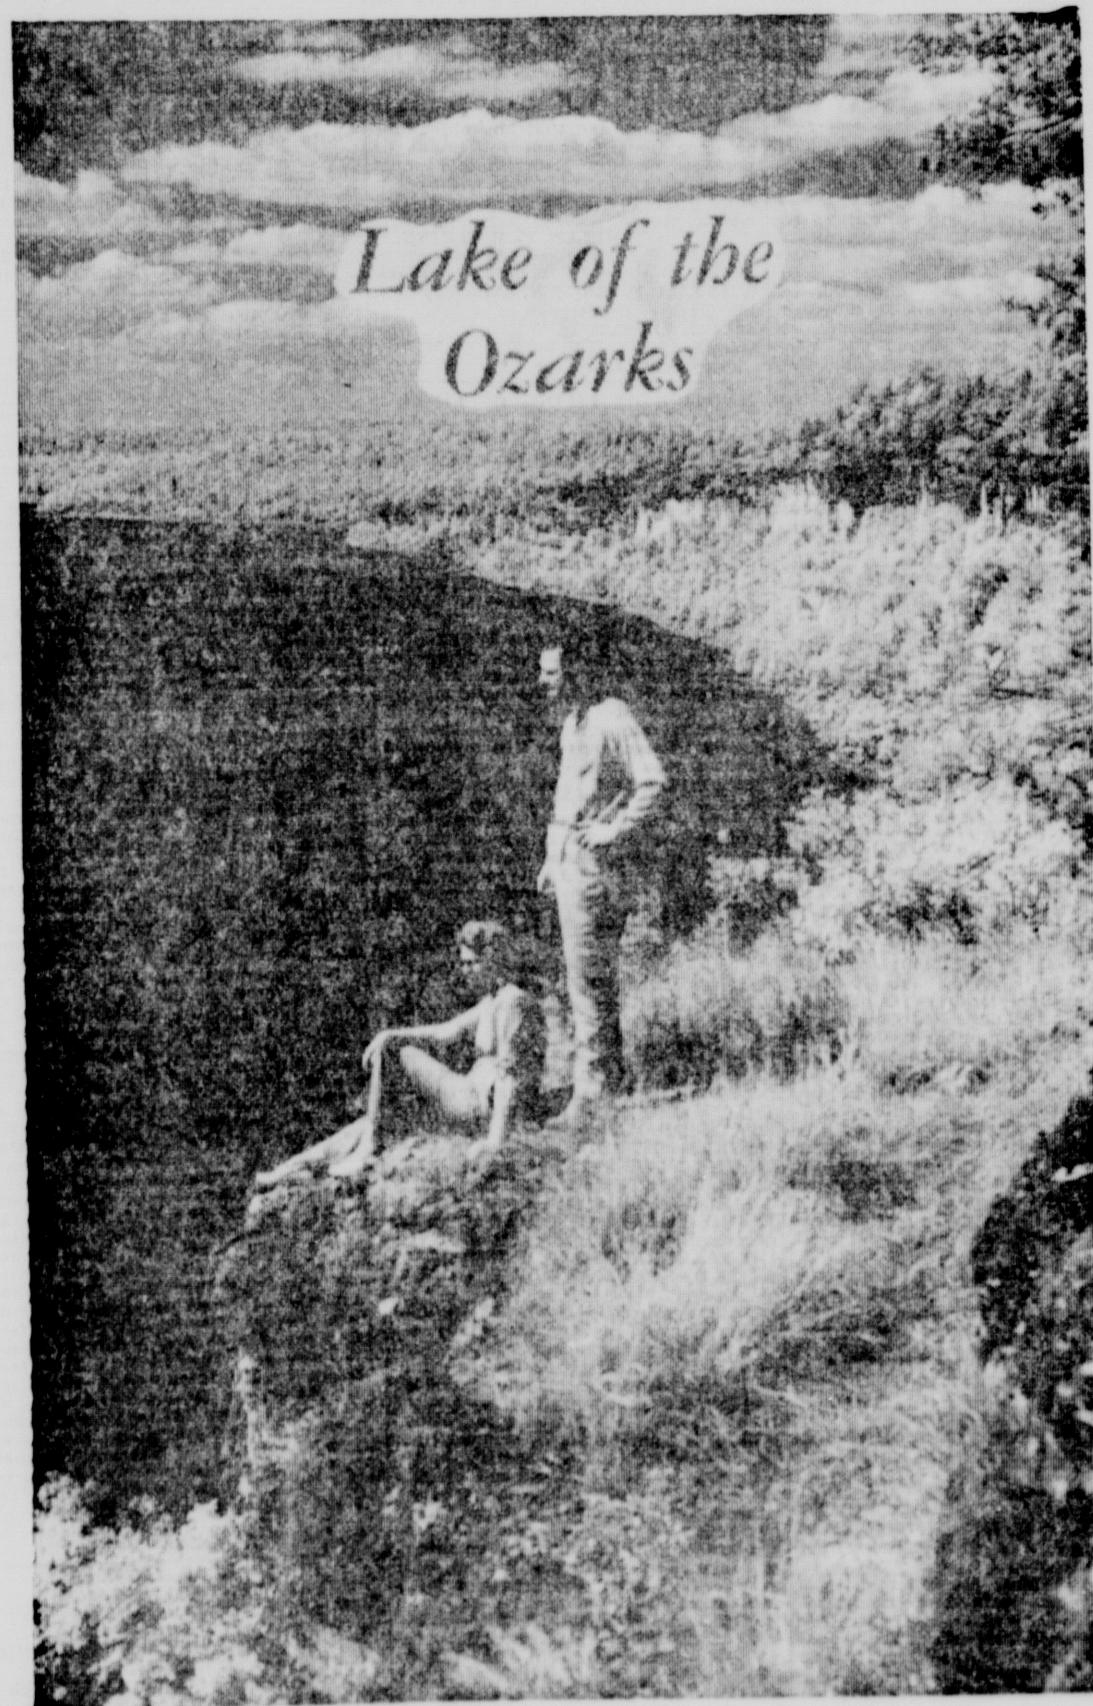

FUNNY HOW THINGS stand out in your memory — little things that are but the simple joys of long forgotten moments, suddenly brought to mind by a word or so spoken by someone in conversation, or something you see in print.

It was early April that someone mentioned the unimportant item of gathering greens and all at once I was a little girl again some place to the southeast of Sedalia, perhaps in the city limits. I do not know, gathering greens. Like most children I didn't like greens, and I still don't, but I had gone with my parents somewhere to gather them. It wasn't the greens I was interested in it was the going through a wooded stretch where wild flowers blossomed, the fern leaves curled in lace patterns and my parents dug something they called greens up and put it in a basket. We had walked there and back, too, they loved to walk — and I smiled a little recently, in remembrance, when I read that the most popular sport in America today is hiking.

I remember going, as a little girl, over the wooded section of my grandmother's farm with her gathering stones, some that seemed to have faces on them or other pictures and how, too, she pointed out the faces in the white clouds that floated slowly in the summer sky.

NOBODY WOULD ever believe his fish story but this fisherman has a picture of the 71 pound catfish that didn't get away. Bob Parker, 1332 East Seventh, made this beautiful catch at the mouth of Cole Camp Creek, with a trot line.

THIS YOUNG MAN AND WOMAN are about to fly—but they don't intend to go up in the airplanes they are comparing. They are model airplane enthusiasts and have fun outdoors flying the model planes in the great blue yonder.

"COME ON IN—the water's fine," yells the boy in the Liberty Park swimming pool, and the fellow on the diving board takes him at his word and dives in. Whether it's the ol' swimmin' hole in the country, the Lake of the Ozarks or the pool at home, swimming is a wonderful summer sport.

Great Outdoors

The great outdoors, the giant trees that stretch their branches upward, the birds of many kinds that build their nests therein, the streams from a trickle over the rocks to wide and gushing waters, in which there are fish, the animals that watch from the thicket and dart in and out and the snakes that please the young boys and frighten the girls.

It was man who went into caves and tents and houses as shelter from the elements, but when the smell of spring is in the air, like primitive man, he seeks the outdoors. For primitive man, however, it was his way of making a living, for modern man it is means of escaping from making a living — those days of leisure that he seeks at the lake, on the creek bank, or in the parks or in his own back yard.

Even before the chill of winter has passed, on the first warm days, camping trips are planned, but winter, still watching for a chance for its last fling, sometimes sends the temperature tumbling and the campers shivering. Tents seem to be poor shelters and camp fires give little heat — but, now it seems safe enough to get that camping equipment together, and go forth into the wooded areas to spend a few days away from the busy hum of every day life and relax in body, mind and soul, in God's Heaven on earth, the outdoors, to fish in the silver streams, to walk the wooded paths, to sit by the camp fire under the black velvet sky with its diamond stars, to breathe the fresh air, to sleep and eat and think — and — perhaps — unconsciously, pray.

"I love," said one Sedalia woman, "to sit on the bank of a stream fishing and answer the call of the various birds."

THAT LITTLE OLD BALL is bouncing along and Mrs. Ike L. Warren, treasurer and office manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, isn't sure it is going where she wants it to. She hasn't taken up real golf, yet, which is, of course a popular outdoor sport. She is practicing at miniature golf.

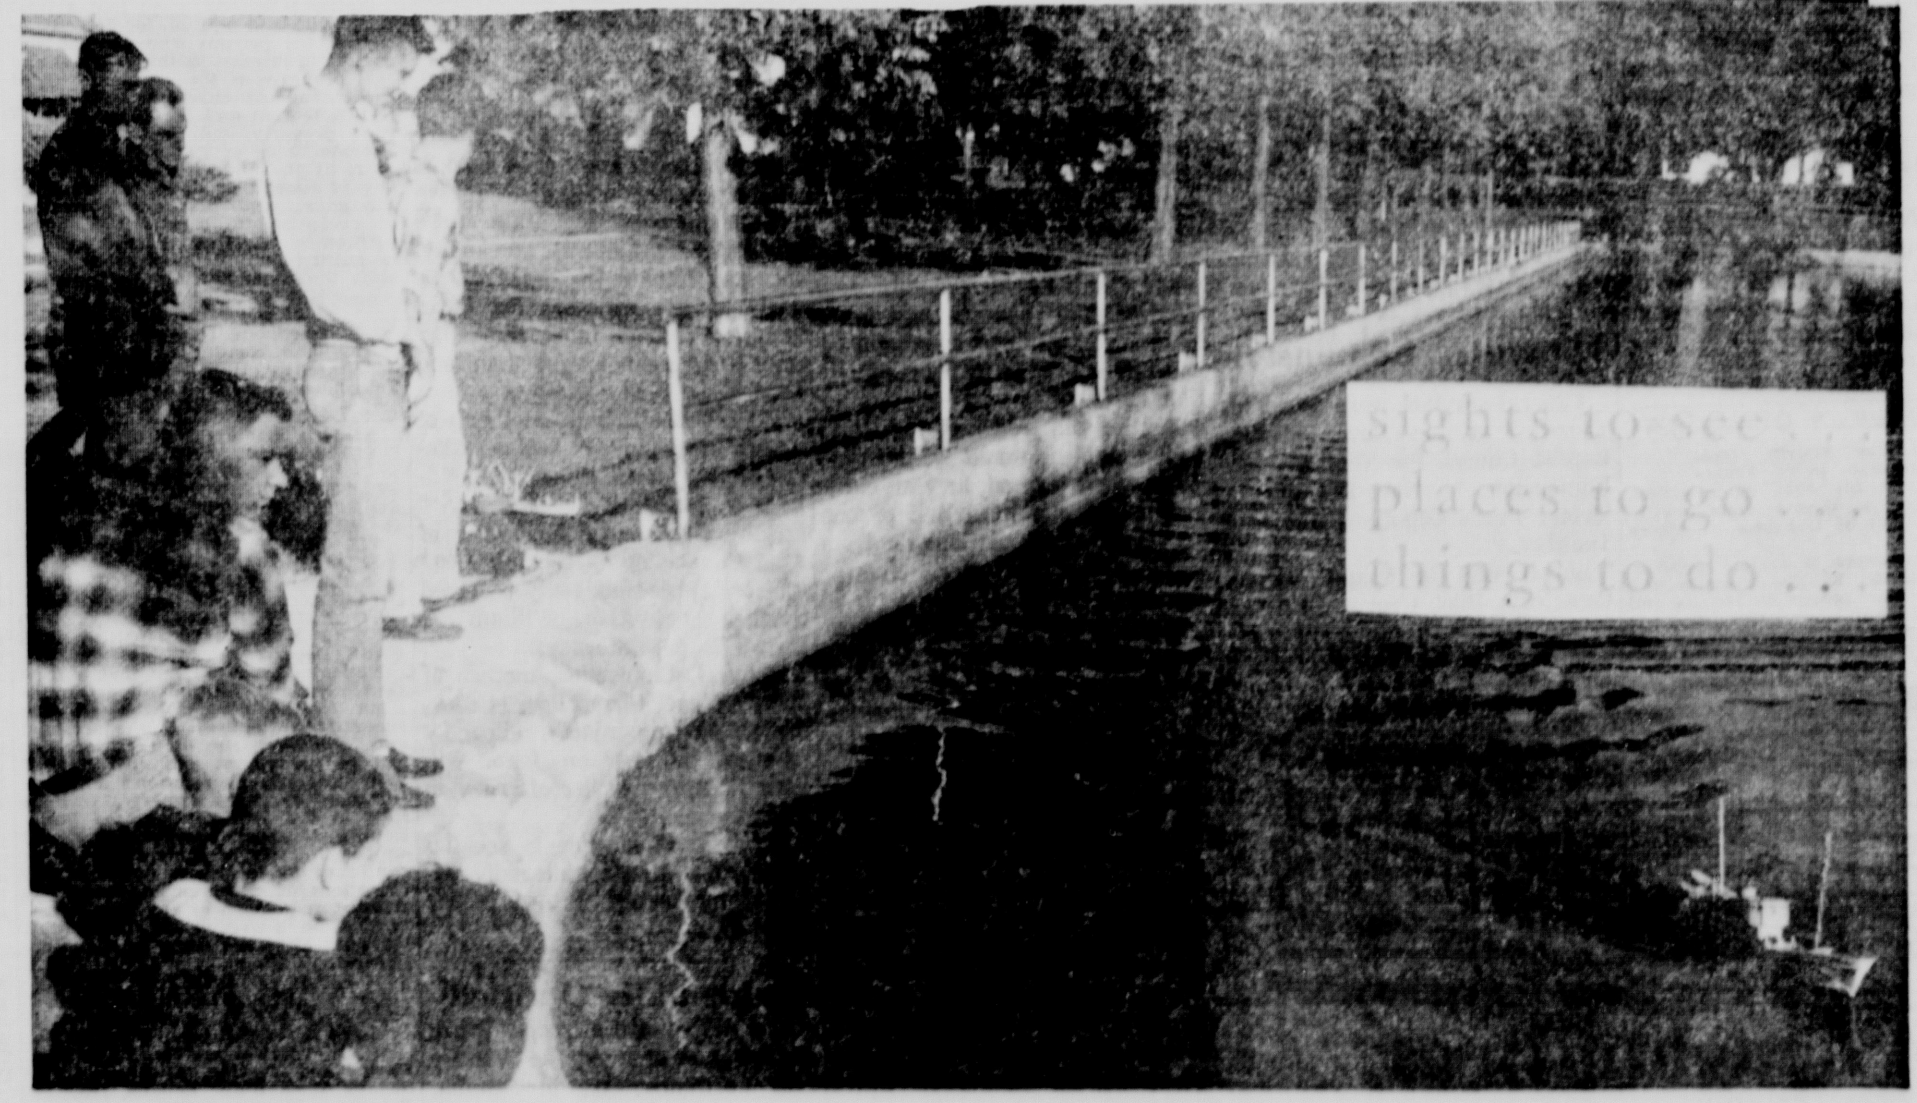

BESIDE THE TRANQUIL waters at a quiet spot on the Lake of the Ozarks this man and woman watch from a cliff the beauty of the great outdoors—this is meditation—not even a soft breeze ripples the blue of the water or the leaves of the tree behind them—the white clouds of the summer sky stand still—this is communion with God—a moment of silent prayer.

FOR YOUR HOLIDAY, for those weekends at the lake, for your entire vacation, nothing can be more of a thrill than a motor boat, whether its for fishing or the swift rides for miles along the curving, dragon-shaped Lake of the Ozarks.

WHETHER IT IS A YACHT on the Lake of the Ozarks or a miniature model on Liberty Park lagoon, boating is fun and a group of little boys of today and little boys of yesterday watch this tiny boat as it sails away.

Gay Farewell For Nikita And Castro

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev, in a gay farewell to Fidel Castro, vowed Thursday night he would rebuff "delirious talk" about going to war to promote world communism.

The Soviet premier, speaking at a reception in the Kremlin's great hall after a Lenin Stadium rally for the Cuban prime minister, evidently aimed his remark at the Red Chinese.

Chinese insistence on a belligerent attitude toward the West is one of the roots of the current Moscow-Peking squabble, which will be considered at a Soviet-Chinese meeting in Moscow on July 5.

In an impromptu speech, Khrushchev said the idea that Communist world victory can come only through war violates Marxism-Leninism. He appeared to be laying down the Soviet line for the July meeting.

Khrushchev was in a buoyant mood, even taking out time to scoff at Western reports that he is having political trouble in the Red camp. He told the reception crowd he wanted to be friends with everybody, but that the U.S.S.R. has a 100-million-ton bomb waiting for "imperialists" who might feel like starting a war.

The new bipartisan group would include four senators, four representatives and four members appointed by Gov. John M. Dalton. They would prepare recommendations for the 1965 Legislature.

Also advanced were bills to: Increase the salary of state public service commissioners from $11,000 to $14,000 a year.

Require well drillers to send in cuttings to the state geologist in order to gather information on ground water supplies.

Increase state aid to county fairs to a maximum of $15,000 a year.

The House made only two changes in the bill passed earlier by the Senate.

One would repeal the ancient section forbidding work on Sunday.

In the other change the House refused the Senate's provision that trading stamps could not be issued for Sunday sales.

Final House action came after more than five hours of argument spanning two days.

The House also passed and sent to the Senate a bill increasing the uniformed strength of the Highway Patrol from 505 men to 600. Coupled with pay raises for the patrol, the cost will come to about $1 million a year.

Late in a night session of the House a bill was advanced to let Kansas City voters decide whether Missouri's second largest city should levy a tax on earnings.

Sponsors said Kansas City in real financial trouble and needed a way to solve it. Opponents, some from Jackson County and some from nearby counties, said they already have to pay taxes to finance their own communities and did not want to be taxed by Kansas City.

As the bill reached the final voting stage it would let the city, if the voters agreed, levy an earnings tax of up to a half of one percent. St. Louis has had an earnings tax for more than a decade.

The House Constitutional Amendments Committee decided Wednesday to delay at least until next Monday its decision on the explosive proposal to provide state aid for the transportation of private and parochial school pupils.

By that time many of the schools will be closed for the year.

Supporters of a plan for four-year college instruction in Joplin and St. Joseph, with the University of Missouri providing the instruction for the final two years, told a Senate committee there was a self-help proposal.

They said the cities would provide the first two college years and the facilities for the second two. Opponents will be heard later. The bill already has passed the House.

DR. EARL E. DAWSON, president of the Lincoln University, Jefferson City, will give the commencement address at C. C. Hubbard High School at 8 o'clock tonight. Dr. Dawson is a member of the plans and policies committee of the Missouri State Teacher's Association; the Missouri committee for the White House committee on Children and Youth; the department of higher education of the Missouri State Teacher's Association; the Governor's committee on higher education in Missouri; the Missouri Constitutional Convention Study committee and the Executive Council, Lake of the Ozarks Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He is a member-at-large of the National Council of Boy Scouts of America; a member of the executive committee of the Cole County Chapter of the American Red Cross and a member of the program committee of the Missouri Association for Social Welfare.

No Dissenters On Development Of Grand River

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Without a dissenting vote, state representatives from the Grand River Basin counties of north Missouri have approved a resolution calling for development and management of the water resources of the basin.

Rep. Ralph Wigfield of Livingston County, elected chairman of the group, said there was no opposition to the proposal.

Others also on record favoring development of the basin are the Northwest Missouri County Judges Association and the city governments of 18 of the 19 county seats in this area.

City officials at Trenton, in Grundy County, still have the matter under study.

Army engineers last week at Gallatin outlined a $275,000,000 plan for development of the basin. It featured seven reservoirs and a system of channel improvements and levee work along the Grand and its major tributaries.

Also urging action on the Grand River Basin are the flood control committee of the Kansas City Chamber of Commerce and the Missouri-Arkansas Flood Control Association.
